

CATEGORY 9: Meaningful Transformations

MIT is a long, arduous journey. You may change in small ways you don't even expect. To-feather, I mean weather, this category, we will have to start with some changes!

From the bestseller, Advice from Tim the Beaver

We should find some lumber and sustenance first.

Let's eat some toast before dealing with our wide range of problems.

While we are pausing for the others, let's start drafting a plan.

We need to plan out all the small details, and we only have a little while.

I need to use the restroom; does anyone else want to come with?

Let's head not-west. I think that is the quick route.

I think there's another route near the back, but it would take us 12 months!
