

4: POT OF GOLD

Applicant's comment: I used to have a penpal! His name was Roy G. Biv. He still sends me various letters sometimes.

Some random guy is sprouting out some possibly true facts about oranges (AKA 15-18-1-14-7-5-19)!

There are at least 20 varieties of oranges in the world.
As they say, 1 orange a day keeps the doctor away.
The average orange tree is 11 feet tall.
About 5 people have died from an orange overdose.
Only about 20% of oranges are sold as a whole fruit.
The value of the orange crop a few years ago was estimated at 8 million dollars.
At least 5 people have consumed an orange.
The average person eats 12 pounds of oranges per year.

You may have gotten distracted looking at the clear, cloudless sky and fell into the ocean. Try to find your way to shore.

Temporary break to enjoy trivia night! Have some fun:

- A way which is opposite of out?
- A way to burrow in the ground?
- A symbol for the eighth element?

Oof, this sugar-free diet is really getting to you. Some fruit would be quite nice right now....

lemon	turnips	starfruit
celery	banana	cauliflower
carrots	pineapple	spinach

We stopped by Baskin Robbins but they seem to have some typing mishaps...

- Neavolitan
- Rasiberry Sorbet
- Oistachio
- American Lie
- Mint Chie
- Butter Tecan

Here are the only drinks this store offers:

- Matcha
- Jasmine Green
- Honey Lemon Green
- Peach Green

What are you drinking?

Tips for Surviving College

Keep pressing on! Even when you feel you're not reddy, keep going.

This is the start of the next four years of your life. You can't redo them.

Rediscover your old passions when things seem to be going poorly for you.

Respect everyone around you. Redefine your view of success; asking for help is okay!